

Jean Breaux Award 2022-23 GUIDELINES

Acadiana Center
for the Arts

Awards Up to $1,000

Funding Cycle – May 1, 2022 to April 30, 2023

The Jean Breaux Award program is administered by the Community Development Department of the Acadiana Center for the Arts (AcA) and is financially supported by the AcA, the Jean Breaux family, individual donors and AcA Board fund-raising efforts.

PROGRAM OVERVIEW

- Increase participation in the arts by providing support for short-term arts educational opportunities or arts administration, which encourage the creation of art by local (Acadiana) high school and college students/artists, as well as, non-profit organizations proposing arts productions/activities, which involve and benefit high school and/or college students/artists.
- Assist in the artistic growth of the youth in Acadiana through professional development arts opportunities, beyond those available in their present school based programs through such recognized arts disciplines as dance, design, folklife, literature, media arts, music, theater, visual arts and crafts.
- Contribute to building more diverse audiences for arts activities, in Acadiana art communities and especially providing opportunities to those with limited resources.
- Introduce standard grant-writing practices to student/artists, while providing them experiences and support with customary arts grants administration.

INELIGIBILITY

The applicant will be deemed ineligible if:

- The applicant is a current board member, honorary committee member, major funder, current panelist, AcA staff member or immediate family member of such a person
- The applicant is applying on behalf of another person or organization
- Students/artists, non-profit organizations, who have already received an award from this program (including awards when previously known as the L. Hill Bonin Memorial Award) must wait two (2) full cycles before reapplying. For example, applicants who received funding in 2019 can apply again in 2022.
- This is not a scholarship program to pay for high school or college classes/courses, tuition or school supplies/books.

APPLICATION PROCESS

All applications must be completed and submitted via the online form. Hand delivered, mailed or emailed applications are ineligible and will not be accepted.

REVIEW PROCESS

Your application will be reviewed by the Jean Breaux Award Committee who will make funding recommendations to the AcA Board of Directors.

Applications will be assessed on:

- Eligibility criteria
- Exhibition of a well thought out and written application
- Artistic merit of the proposal
- Appropriate budget

Note: This is a competitive program. An application may or may not be funded, depending on the number of applicants, the amount of award money available and the strength of the proposals presented. The acceptance of an application does not intend to imply that it will be automatically funded. Applicants will be notified prior to the beginning of the funding cycle about the results of their applications.

PROPOSAL WRITING TIPS

- Thoroughly read the guidelines
- Write specifically, in simple, clear language
- Assume the reader of your application knows nothing about your project except what is presented in the application
- Use facts and not necessarily opinions. Present concrete plans, specific goals, and evidence of adequate research and planning
- The budget, narrative, and provider of services should all relate and be consistent
- Be sure to proofread. Have another person read your draft. Does it make sense to them? Does it address the evaluation criteria?
